

SARAH DAVIS

OUR VOICE
OUR STATE
REPRESENTATIVE

Elected in 2010 as the fiscally conservative choice for the Texas House of Representatives, Sarah Davis has delivered on her campaign promises. Sarah helped eliminate an over $20 billion budget shortfall without raising taxes. To Sarah, however, service is not simply about shrinking government, but making it work better for Texans.

CONSTRUCTIVE, RESPONSIVE LEADERSHIP

Sarah Davis is a constructive force in the Texas House, where she's on a mission to get things done. She's responsive to our needs, and emphasizes investments in core priorities – education for our children, health care for our families, and jobs for our citizens. She reaches across the aisle to invest in safer neighborhoods and more vibrant communities.

AS OUR REPRESENTATIVE, SARAH:

- Supported a budget that devoted 57 percent of state general revenue to education – without raising taxes
- Passed deed restriction legislation to help our neighborhoods preserve and protect their distinct character
- Fought for new tools to convict child pornographers
- Protected small businesses by extending the franchise tax exemption

A FIGHTER IN THE FACE OF OBSTACLES

Sarah Davis knows what it is like to overcome trying circumstances. After graduating from John Foster Dulles High School in Sugar Land, Sarah paid her way through college. At Baylor University, she was a member of the debate team, and majored in Economics, graduating with a degree in economics in 1998. She then earned a law degree in 2001 from the University of Houston.

Today Sarah is an accomplished and successful attorney with the firm of Lewis Brisbois Bisgaard & Smith LLP, providing legal representation to area individuals and Fortune 500 companies. She makes her home in West University Place with her husband Kent Adams, and their Yorkie "Mr. Henry."

In 2008, Sarah was diagnosed with breast cancer. But with faith and a fighting spirit, she prevailed over cancer and then dedicated herself to the service of her friends and neighbors by running for public office.

Today Sarah serves District 134 as a member of the Public Health Committee, and the House Committee on Judiciary and Civil Jurisprudence. She fights for our children, our community, and our jobs, knowing nothing is more important than our freedom and our future.

"I want our children to have access to the best schools, and an education system that teaches them how to think and not merely pass a test. Education leads to opportunity. And opportunity should be our goal for every young Texan, regardless of their circumstances."
